Om företag

Neoventa Medical AB is a Swedish medical device company founded in 1997 by Professor KG Rosén, Physiologist, Paediatrician & Neonatologist, trained at the University of Gothenburg, Sweden. Professor Rosén started Medical device developments, as a way to secure the use of his profound knowledge gained from experimental and clinical research in the field of Fetal Monitoring.

Neoventa provides innovative fetal monitoring solutions and services that improve obstetric care. Our solutions are designed to promote patient safety through enhanced decision support together with a structured workflow. Every day across the globe, health care professionals use our unique solutions to ensure a good start in life.

Our core competence lies in using the STAN fetal monitor to perform evidence-based ST Analysis of the fetal ECG as an adjunct to CTG, "a second pair of eyes" during childbirth. We are also the provider of disposable fetal scalp electrodes for internal fetal monitoring under the brand Goldtrace. Another important area of business is a comprehensive education and training program, Neoventa Academy, which includes e-learning with certification.

Our head office is in Gothenburg, Sweden.
