Location Remote in southern Sweden

Job Description

Are you passionate about science, business, and building strong customer relationships? Are you looking for a role where you'll have real impact, flexibility, and opportunities for growth? This could be the exciting next step in your career.

Nordic Biosite is a well-established and trusted distributor in the Life Science sector, delivering high-quality products to research, healthcare, and industry for 28 years. With a wide product portfolio and close partnerships with leading manufacturers, they provide innovative solutions for laboratories across the Nordic region.

Nordic Biosite is now expanding its presence in Southern Sweden and Norway and is looking for an experienced Territory Manager with a background in Life Science.

As Territory Manager, your responsibilities will include:

- Driving sales of a broad Life Science product portfolio (e.g. antibodies, reagents, enzymes) to research and diagnostics laboratories.
- Developing and maintaining strong relationships with customers in universities, hospitals, big pharma, biotech, CROs, and other Life Science companies.
- Collaborating with the marketing team on campaigns and other sales-driving activities.
- Travelling within your assigned region (Southern Sweden and Norway), as well as to the head office in Täby.
- Working with a data-driven approach to sales analysis and business development.

They are looking for someone who:

- Proven experience in Life Science sales (required). Preferably within biotech and/or pharma.
- Ideally holds a PhD in Molecular Biology, Immunology, Biomedicine, or a similar field.

- Established contacts within Life Science in Scandinavia are an advantage, preferably within biotech, big pharma and/or CROs.
- Is a proactive relationship builder with a strong business sense and excellent communication skills.
- Strong administrative skills – experience with tenders and CRM systems is highly desirable.
- Speaks and writes fluent Swedish and English (Norwegian is a plus).

Nordic Biosite offers:

- A spot in a dedicated and skilled Nordic sales team.
- A flexible role with a high degree of autonomy for a self-motivated and goal-oriented professional.
- A great place to grow and influence – with benefits to match.
- A solid brand with a long-standing reputation in the industry.

Expectations in the Role:

- Meet assigned sales targets.
- Take an active role in marketing initiatives.
- Work strategically with business development to grow the business in your region while nurturing and expanding existing customer relationships.

Apply now and take the next step in your career!
